Hamilton Southeastern High School

Noblesville, Indiana
Volume 2

Here's What's Happening . . .

What you hold before you is the program of the drama we have titled, "Here's What's Happening" at Hamilton Southeastern High School. This is not a simple playbill distributed to the audience before the performance, but a souvenir to be autographed by the stars and kept as a memorandum of this magnificent production. This is the program of the greatest drama in your life. The production is a 1500-hour long spectacular with a cast of 600 players. The stars are the senior members of the company and those people who appear in every scene, on the field, in the classroom, at the activities, and in on the fun. This is what you have created and shared in pleasurable profits. So, without further ado, "Here's What's Happening!"

"Huh, mommy, I'm almost as good as you."

Happenings Make the Scene at Southeastern

What makes the scene at Southeastern? Sights and sounds that "happen" daily set this stage. Eager minds here probe the world of scientific and literate man. Strong bodies develop agility and skill. Open hearts embrace the guidelines that will determine their future. Here in this theater of life, love, passion and sorrow are all played in the development of the final character. The life which passes through these halls takes with it a lasting memory of friends won, moments of joy and a storehouse of knowledge gained.

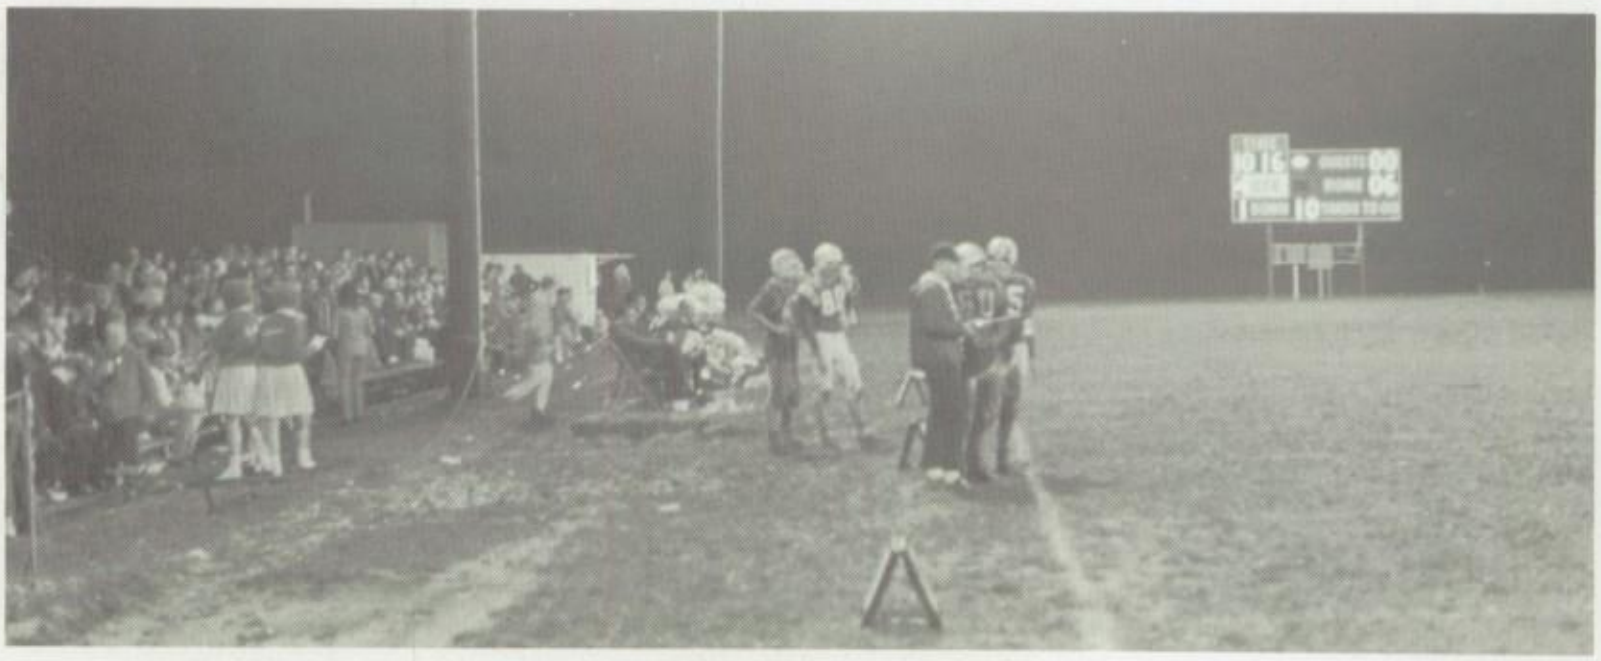
At this second annual football Homecoming, the fog rolled in our first varsity victory.



A bleak Friday afternoon that brought with it a hailstorm and other such disasters disappointed the Homecoming hopes of many high-spirited Royals. But before the evening passed, the canceled pep session, wet parade and muddy, misty weather took a second place to the first varsity football victory in the history of our school. Homecoming Queen Jerrie Anderson and her court of Princesses from each class reigned over the highly popular dance sponsored by the Student Council that evening. And a mystic enchantment reigned over all of the activities of Hamilton Southeastern's second annual football Homecoming.

Annually one of the highlights of the first semester is the all-school Christmas convocation. This year was no different. Each class wrote, produced, directed and enacted a skit, and the ever-trying faculty made a feeble effort to outdo the students. "Santa" made his appearance, and everyone was in a festive Holiday mood at the conclusion of the affair, ready for the Christmas-New Year's holiday break.

Thrills Happen . . .

Some of the most exciting new happenings of the year centered around the basketball and wrestling squads. The first varsity win in the new gym came against Indian Creek in December, and less than a month later, the Royals made it to the championship game of a four-way invitational played here. John Passwater, 112-pounder, paced the first-year varsity wrestlers with a 3-1 won-lost record.

Seniors Present First Major Production

"Now you're going to catch it boys when ma sees the picture."

The canary bird expert, Cousin Oscar makes the scene with complaints of his mistreatment.

"All right you guys get the lead out." A typical exclamation by director John Merritt.

Many hours of preparation including that of the make up crew were spent on the final presentation.

A Most Pleasant

The talents of sister and brother Amy and David McClary were featured.

Supporting roles were ably handled by Stan Clark, Larry Eiler, Roger Fish, Jim Waterman, Lou Heiny, Karen Adamson, Marsha Mills and Bobbie Gibbs.

Senior Phyllis Lindamood and her swimsuit wowed the audiences both nights, as did the combination of Lou Heiny and Terry Turpin, also members of the class of '68.

Happening Was the Spring Musical

Mrs. Catherine Lindholm gathered a considerable amount of talent around here and presented a two-night spring musical. Double casting permitted even more students to display their abilities to packed houses both evenings. The programs were well-received, and audiences left buzzing about what might take place in the future.

The entire cast of "The Boyfriend" assembled for this picture. Most of the participants were members of the high school chorus, but a few "outsiders" worked in well, including two or three junior high performers. Additional lights were rented to help stage the production, one of the best-received programs conducted in the auditorium this year.

Larry Eiler and Karen Adamson did a little Charleston while Nancy Zelena offered advice to others of the cast.

Moonlight & Roses Is Prom Theme

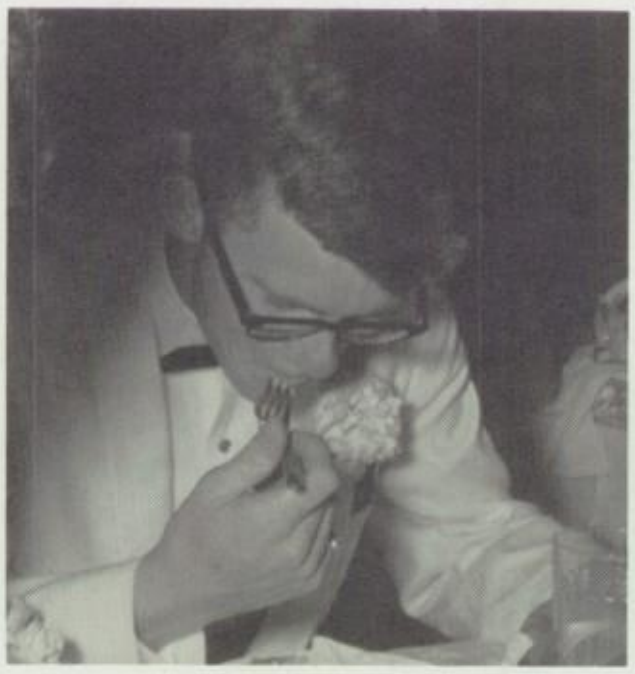
Dinner was served preceding the Senior Prom dance with the menu including baked steak and all its trimmings. Junior girls served the meals.

"Moonlight and Roses" captured the imaginations of the Class of '68 and its guests at the annual Senior Prom. Beautiful decorations transposed the cafeteria from its usual pumpkinish appearance into one of the most stunning "carriages" ever seen. Dancers floated gracefully to the strains of music provided by Tommy Moriarity's orchestra.

Mrs. Mary Sue Rowland did an ice sculpture of the man in the moon for a centerpiece.

"Dreamers" Mike Swackhamer, Ann Gibson, Terry Turpin, Judy Bauer, Roberta Hair and Mike Woodward helped grace the ballroom floor.

Wayne Burton and date Phyllis Lindamood posed under the "moonlight" and the rose trellis.



Eddie Muir enjoys a tasty morsel prior to ballroom antics.,

Faculty and staff members were present, too, as will attest Mr. and Mrs. Ardith West and Mr. and Mrs. Keith Wellman.

"Queens for a Night" were Judy Bauer and Ann Gibson as they ate by candlelight with their Senior Prom dates.

Flowing and beautifully-styled gowns impressed senior boys in their formal attire throughout the evening.

42 Graduates To Cause Happenings

Juniors Hank Monzel, Carla Ford, Debra Morehouse and Stan Clark served as guides for the Class of '68 at the annual baccalaureate ceremonies held in the auditorium. Dr. Ben Morgan, uncle of class member Eddie Isenberg, was the speaker.

'Out in World'

Salutatorian and class president Mike Swackhamer and valedictorian David McClary accept trophies and congratulations from Principal, Mr. Ben L. Sprinkle. Both boys plan college careers, Swackhamer in the field of agriculture and McClary in the ministry.

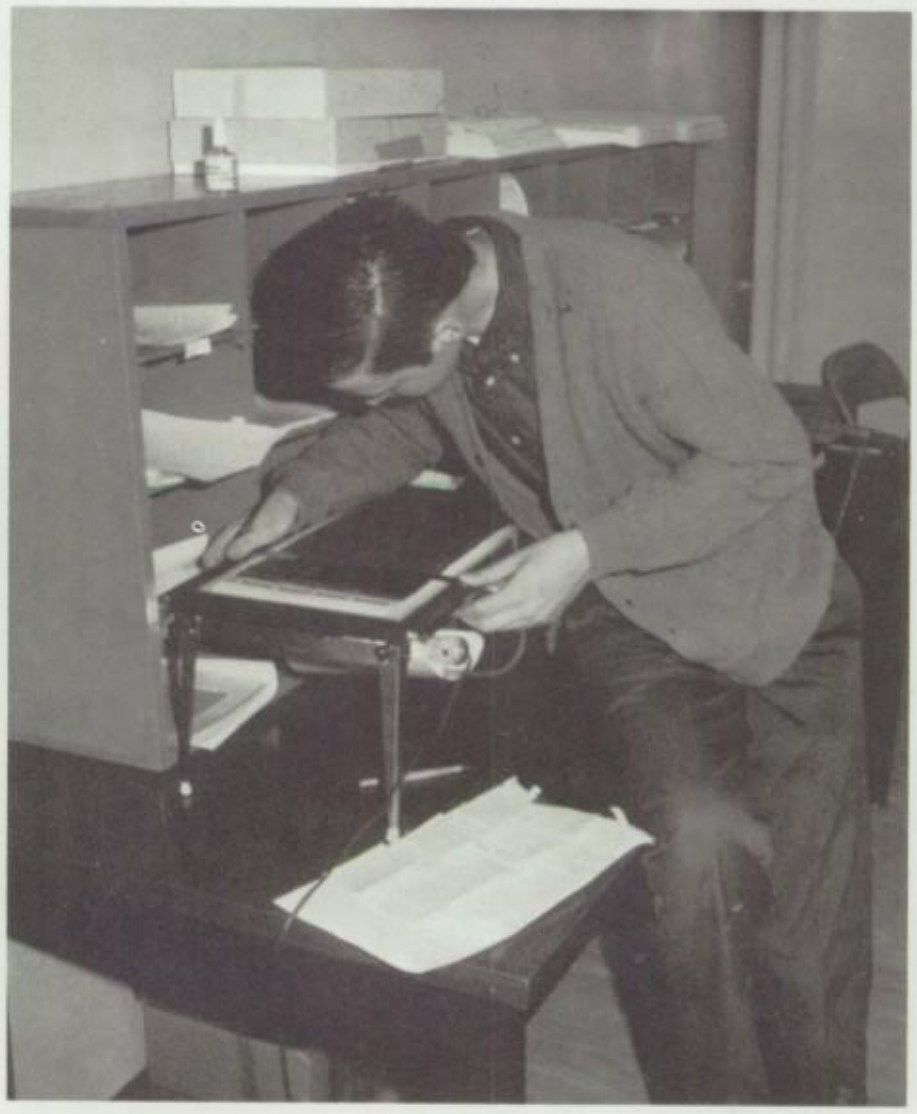
"Give us room to stand and we will move the world" was the motto of the Class of '68. Forty-two members of that class moved out into the world May 28 to cause as many happenings as they could. Commencement exercises were conducted in the gymnasium with Rev. Ronald Felty of Shelbyville (above) delivering the address. Baccalaureate speaker was Dr. Ben Morgan (below).

Students, Faculty

Mr. Ron McNatt left at the close of the first semester after teaching junior high shop classes.

Electric adding machines, dictaphones and typewriters were kept busy by Ann Gibson and others of the business machines class.

Miss Jenny Sue Booth spent a great deal of time at the sewing machines in the home ec area.



Chief scopist for The Royal Reporter as well as sports editor was senior Mike Woodward.

Combine Talents for Productive Year

Mr. Frank Warner, who retired at the close of the first semester, helps Mr. Louis Trosky adjust the blade on the shop's rip saw.

Miss Edie Canada was assigned to Mrs. Roma Peterson as a student teacher second semester. She graduated from Ball State this spring.

The Sceptre's color layout was examined carefully by copy editor David McClary before descriptions were applied to the pictures. Dave was responsible for all the written material in this year's book.

Expressions Made Through Arts and Sciences

Mr. Steve Nyikos, who was also assistant football coach, and sponsor of the Art Club, aided individual expression in art.

As important as is the "book-learning" gained in the classroom, so is the application of such knowledge in order that the student may individually express himself. Progressive strides are taken in creating culture by artists who express their emotions. The development of this expressive feeling begins in the school.

Honor Society—Plateau of Excellence

The highest honor bestowed upon a student at Hamilton Southeastern is election into National Honor Society, for it signifies outstanding achievement in character, scholarship, leadership and service, the ideals of all education.

David McClary, president, honors Mrs. A. W. Reynolds, mother of Jerel Reynolds, for whom the chapter is named.

Mr. Mel Richards, attorney and former Fishers High teacher, addresses the student body on this special occasion.

New members Tom Weaver, Julie Stevens and Jim Waterman are required to sign a membership charter, which must be witnessed by a responsible person. The new members of the junior and senior classes become members immediately, while sophomores become probationary members.

"El Matador" John Passwater exhibits the graceful passes of the Spanish Bullfight. Musicians Display Talents Throughout Year

The high school chorus performs at various functions, in this case a spring concert which was entitled "Spring Swing." Mrs. Catherine Lindholm completed her second year at Southeastern, during which time she handled all vocal music activities. Approximately 35 students made up the chorus, and some entered the annual state solo and ensemble contests.

Awards for outstanding performances in band went to these students. Mr. Richard Lieber, Dr. Charles Henzie and Mr. Joe Kybic all participated in the program.

Senior Dennis Foulke received the coveted John Phillip Sousa award this year, presented annually to the outstanding graduating bandsman.

Greg Gentleman, 1966 graduate, is now mobile news unit director for radio station WIFE.

Amy McClary makes a purchase at the National Honor Society book store.

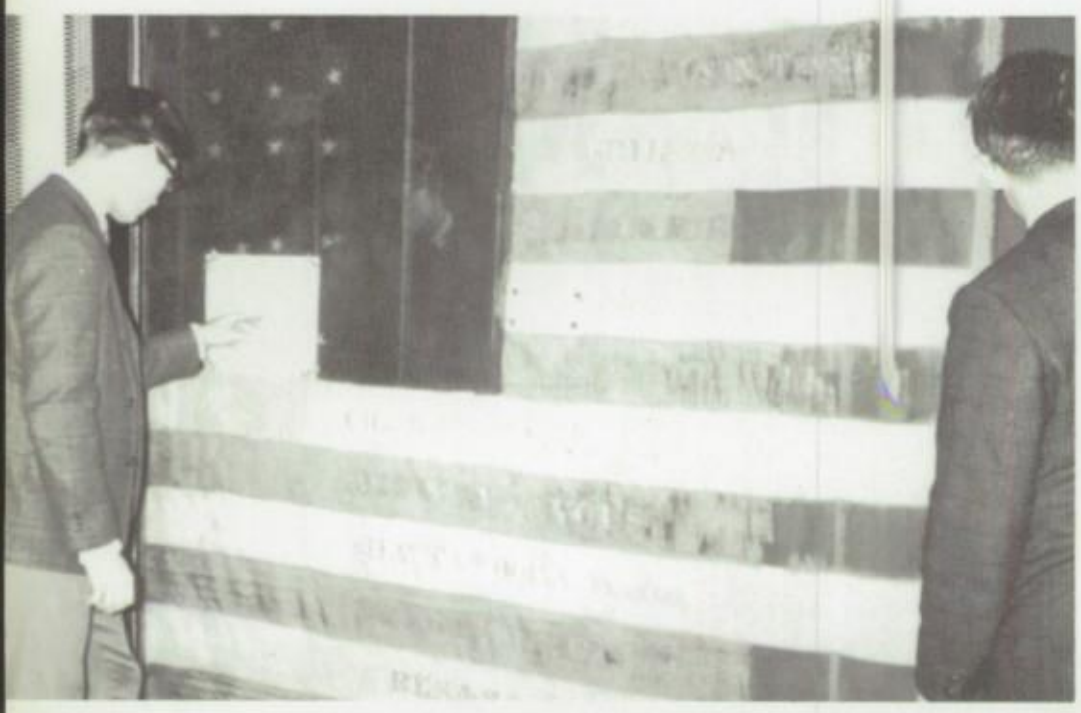
Seniors presented Mr. Wayne Long with a pair of white socks at the annual senior day convo.

Words of advice and encouragement are offered members of the basketball team by IHSAA commissioner Phil Eskew.

One of the outstanding FFA members in the whole district was Southeastern senior Mike Swackhamer.

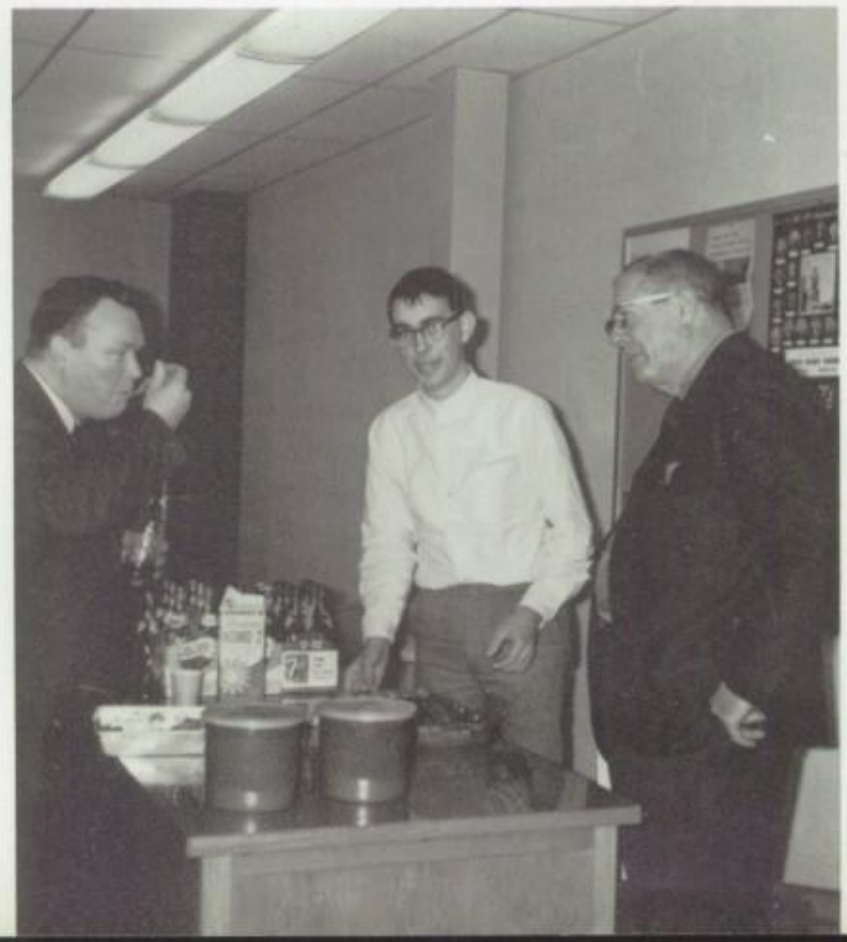
Varied Activities Spiced Year's Happenings

I on't you know that's a romper room no-no?



A new dye job, and it will be as good as new!

This is what I call real togetherness!



Give us the verdict, Mr. Leonard. Is that stuff really edible? By the way, I thought I'd tell you that the dessert you're eating is left over from last Christmas.

Hup, two, three, four! Company, halt!

Aren't you glad you don't do this for a living?

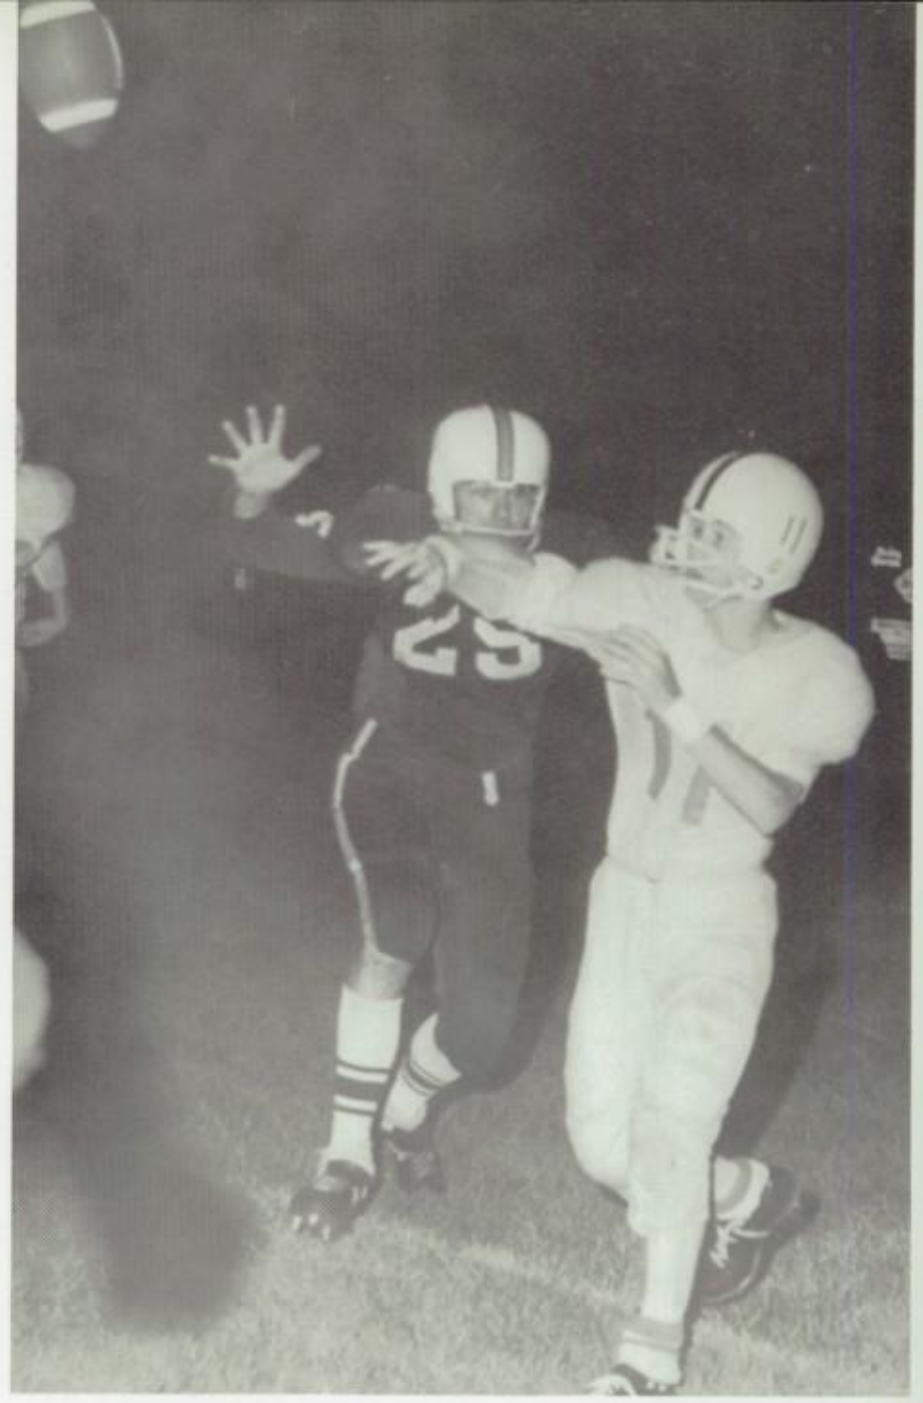
Okay. So you think you're tough? Try and get this one over the net!

I warned you once, Mike. Next time, I'll cut off your head, and then you'll be sorry!

Football Happened

Southeastern's football season may not have been a tremendous success as far as wins and losses were concerned, but the Royals presented their fans with many thrills in their first full varsity season. They won one game out-right, a big Homecoming victory, and annexed another after the season was completed when it was learned Pike Township forfeited because an ineligible player performed for the Red Devils.

Several underclassmen saw considerable action during the year which should give the coaching staff a solid nucleus with which to build for the 1968 season. Howdy Scott, who played at least five different positions while only a sophomore, received all-conference honorable mention.



Quarterback Larry Eiler is about to get smothered by a Hamilton Heights defender after launching a pass.

Hard as it may be to determine what is happening in this action shot, it's halfback Bill Wiley hitting the Charlton line for a small gain.

Jim Beaver and Jack Roudebush bring down this ball carrier as help starts to arrive.

Royals Won Two

Mr. Bob Russell and Mr. Wayne Long gave the football team a big assist by manning the scoreboard apparatus.

Larry McLean is thrown for a loss on this play as two officials watch for infractions. Eric Nordell (61) and Jim Beaver (60) look to their fallen comrade.

This action took place at a practice session with Howdy Scott calling signals in a Royals huddle.

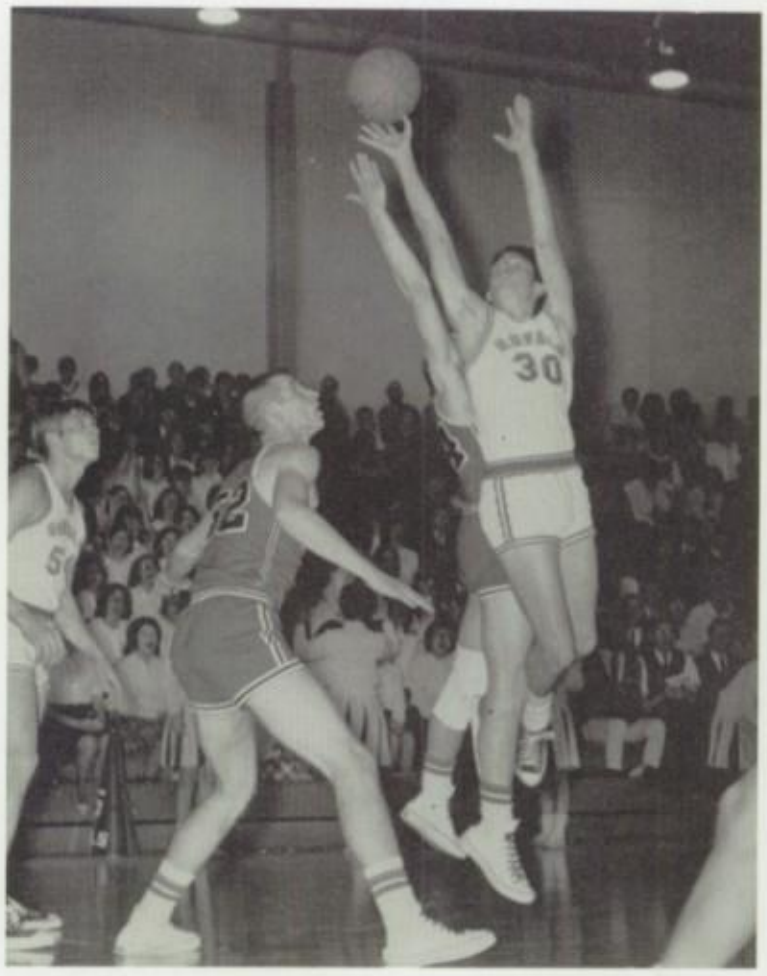
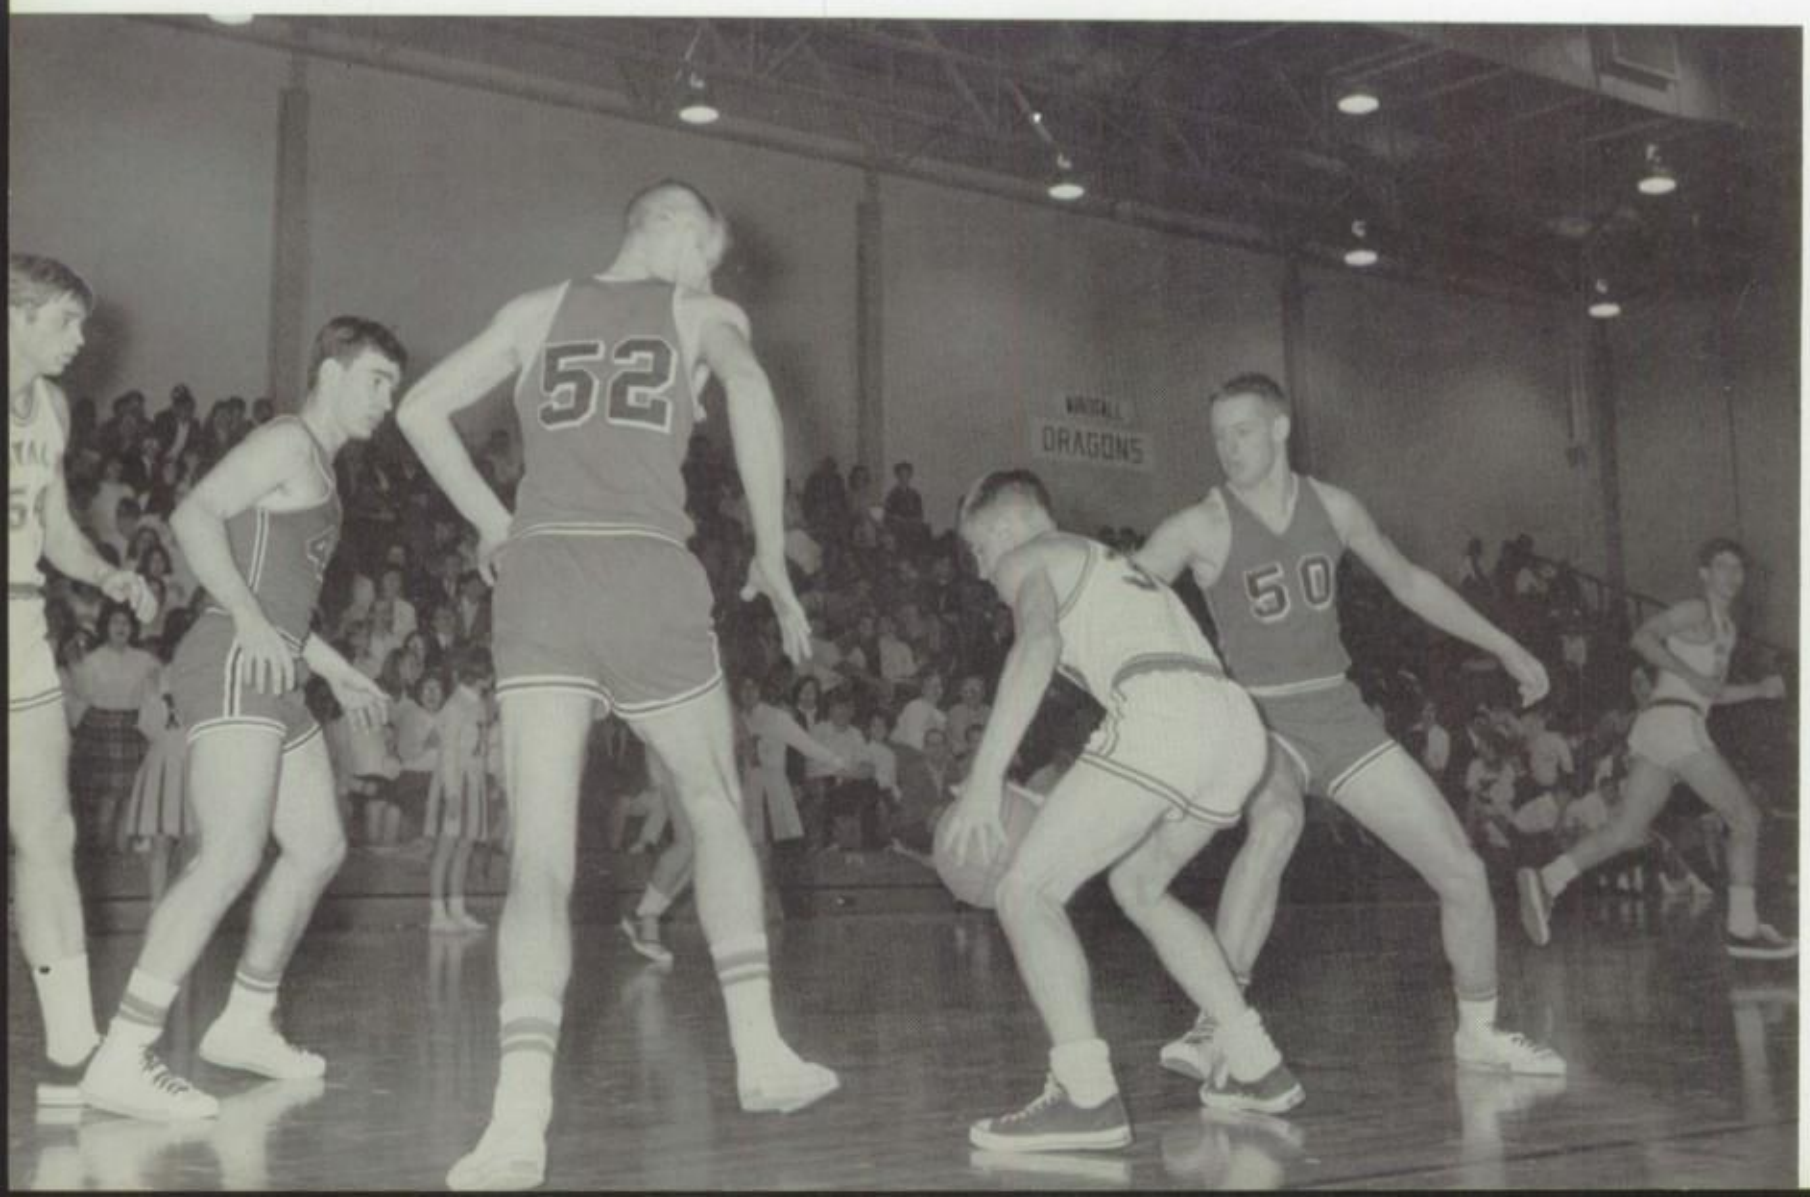
Cheerleaders Phyllis Lindamood and Rebecca Russell plead with Royals fans to boost the basketball team on to victory. They were joined by teammates Janet Wood and Donna Rushton.

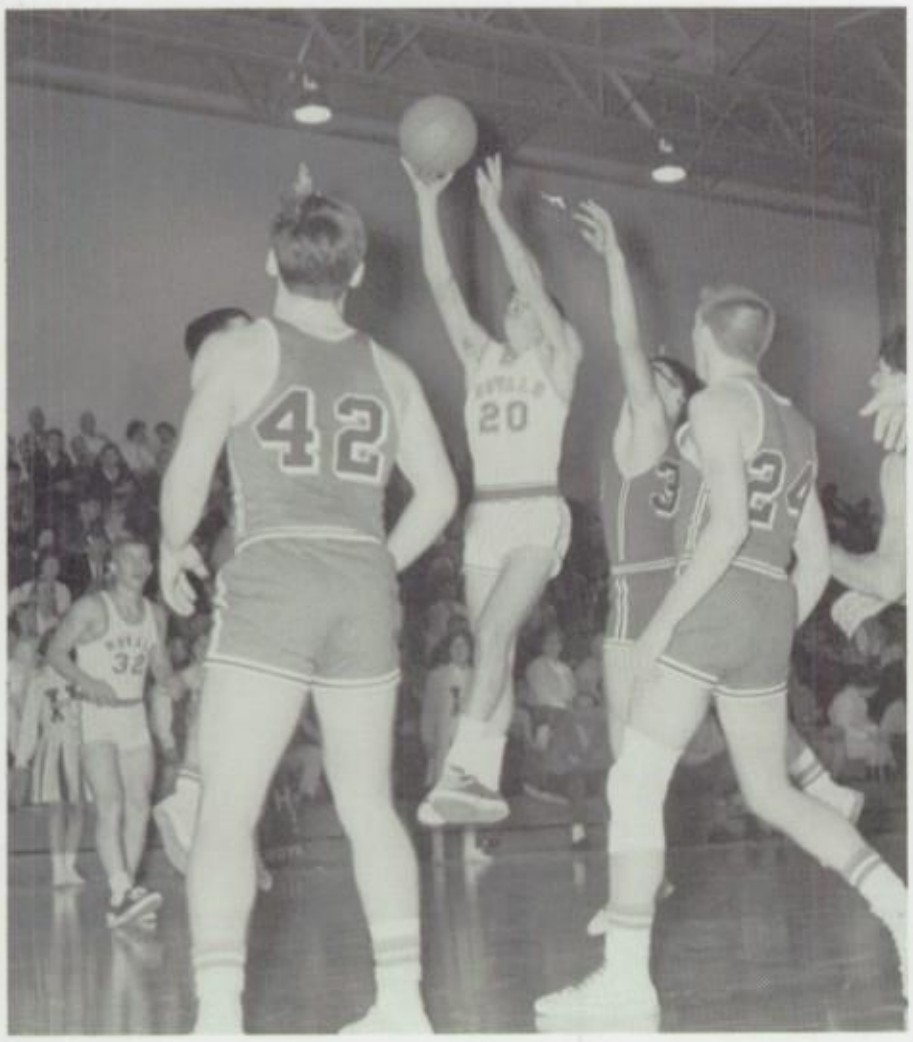


It was hard work, but Howdy Scott managed to slip around the defense for this layup against Sheridan in the holiday tourney.

Coach Wayne Long's hardwood Royals posted a 6--15 won-lost record for the year with two of his performers, Jon Kunkle (left, below) and Jack Roudebush earning All-Mid Capital Conference honors. Kunkle also was named to the All-Hamilton County squad. Senior Mike Swackhamer (with ball, below) was captain of the Royals, an honor he held all year in athletics. He also captained the cross country and track squads.

As was the case in every sport during the past school year, the Royals were young and should provide plenty of thrills in the future.





It's another two points for junior guard Mike Sweitzer as he sinks this layup against Sheridan.

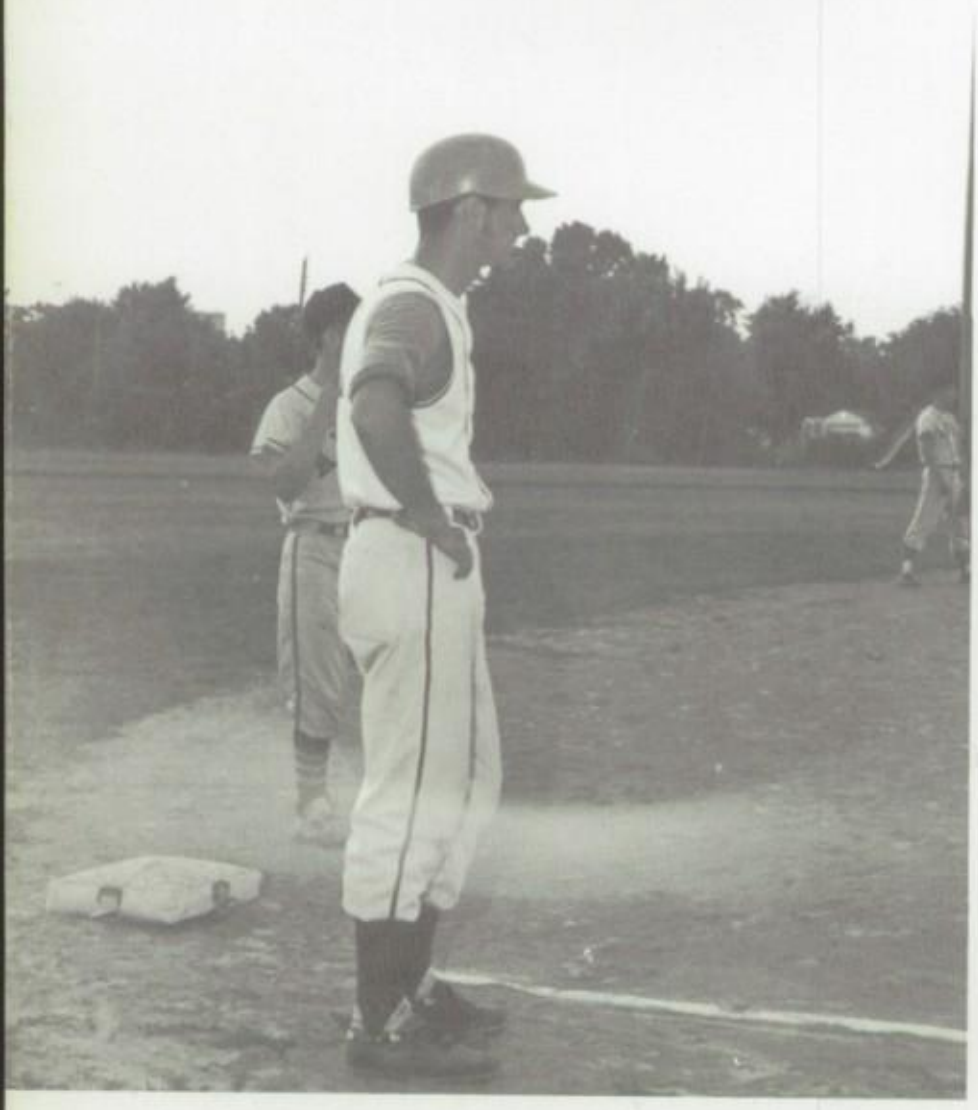
This is the action which takes place when Coach Long calls a timeout. Discussions center around team strategy, defensive assignments, better all-around performances and encouraging words.

Jon Kunkle and Sheridan's Phil Greeman look on helplessly as the ball squirts out-of-bounds.

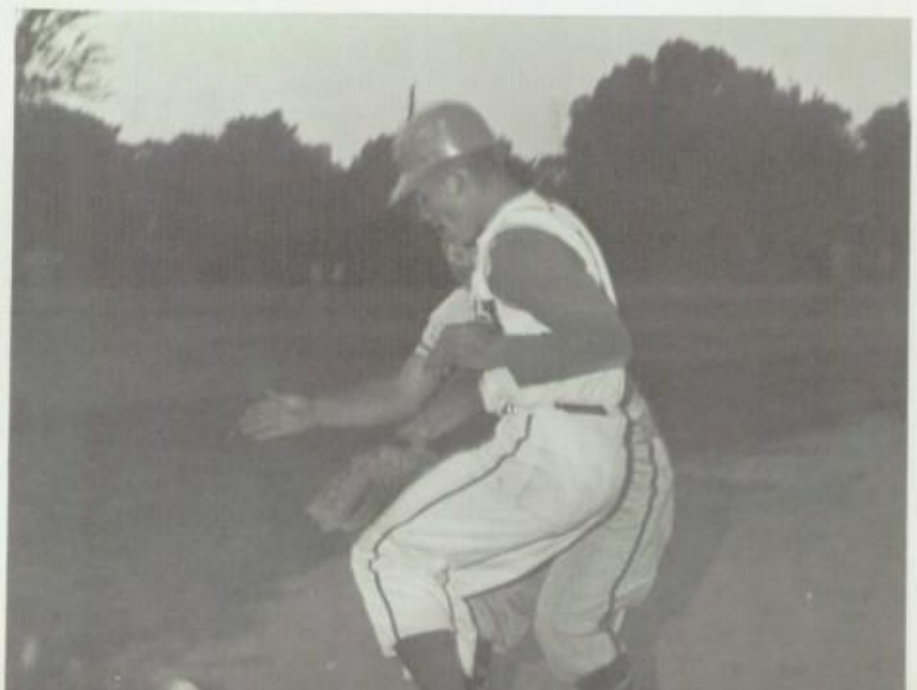
Rack up two more for leading scorer sophomore Jack Roudebush as he hits a jumper over Sheridan's Neil Palmer.

The baseball team got off to an inauspicious start but showed promise as the spring season progressed. In the picture above, Coach Keith Wellman and Avon mentor Terry Leak huddled with the umpires prior to game time to go over ground rules at the Fishers diamond.

In the two pictures below, All-conference players John Messersmith and Jack Roudebush practice bunting and beats a throw back to third base respectively. Outfielder Dennis Seymour also is an All-conference performer.



Pitcher Dan Erney, slowed in the early going by illness, proved to be one of the leading hitters on the Royals squad. Here he takes a leadoff against Avon.



Coach Long goes over meet assignments with his track squad prior to an affair with Windfall. The thinlyclads posted an early-season record of 5 wins and 2 losses.

Perry White proved nearly invincible in high hurdles races. Here he's far in front of Windfall's Gary Causey. Perry also was outstanding in the high jump.

Trackmen Show Good Potential in Early Meets

Tom Weaver (above), Jon Kunkle (middle) and Jim Ford (far right) were among at least seven sectional qualifiers for the Royals. It was the largest squad ever eligible to represent our school in the state competition since standards were established for participation.

Bandsmen "Sound Off!" from Fall to Spring

Would you believe the best of 76 trombones?

The band worked hard and long this year and was active from fall to spring. Spectators at football and basketball games were "royally" entertained with halftime shows featuring the band, twirlers and pom pom girls. Individual members participated in a music contest at Tech High School, and concerts were given by the entire band. The legions on parade participated in the Noblesville Christmas celebration and were involved in an exchange concert with Medora. High point of the year was the arrival of new uniforms.

The stage bands, new this year, add much to stage productions.

Pom pom girls add sparkle to the Royals band.

Royal Standouts Saluted by Mid Capital Loop

Hamilton Southeastern was blessed with some young athletic talent during the past Mid Capital Conference year. Pictured at the left are the Royals who were named to baseball, cross country, football and basketball all-league teams. Shortstop Jack Roudebush, centerfielder Dennis Seymour and first baseman John Messersmith were honored in baseball. Mike Swackhamer, Mike Sprinkle, and David Frakes were tops in cross country. Football talent included quarterback Howdy Scott, and basketball stars were Roudebush and Jon Kunkle. Sceptre deadlines did not permit the inclusion of track and golf all-conference members.

Students more interested in entering the business world than becoming involved in the "professions" may get a head start in Southeastern's outstanding business department. Many different machines are available for instruction and practice.

Student librarians gain practical experience while helping the library to run smoothly.

Mrs. Evelyn Fortier tends the "storehouse of knowledge."

In addition to teaching typing and shorthand, Mr. Frank Rhea is the purchaser of school supplies.

Sceptre cameras catch Mrs. Marilyn Bailey (above) who appears to be cutting out paper dolls. She actually is preparing bulletin board material for her business classes. Mrs. Marty Davis (right) instructs students in business math, typing and bookkeeping.

Mr. David Roberts utilizes the language lab facilities for his Spanish classes.

Grammar and Literature teacher, Mrs. Arlene Clark helps develop the culture of junior high students.

As well as teaching high school English, Mrs. Roma Peterson is the senior class sponsor.

Mrs. Norma Bamberger teaches the underclassmen English classes.

As yearbook and newspaper sponsor, Mr. Keith Wellman, rules with an iron hand to meet deadlines.

Teachers Lead Students Down Path of Knowledge

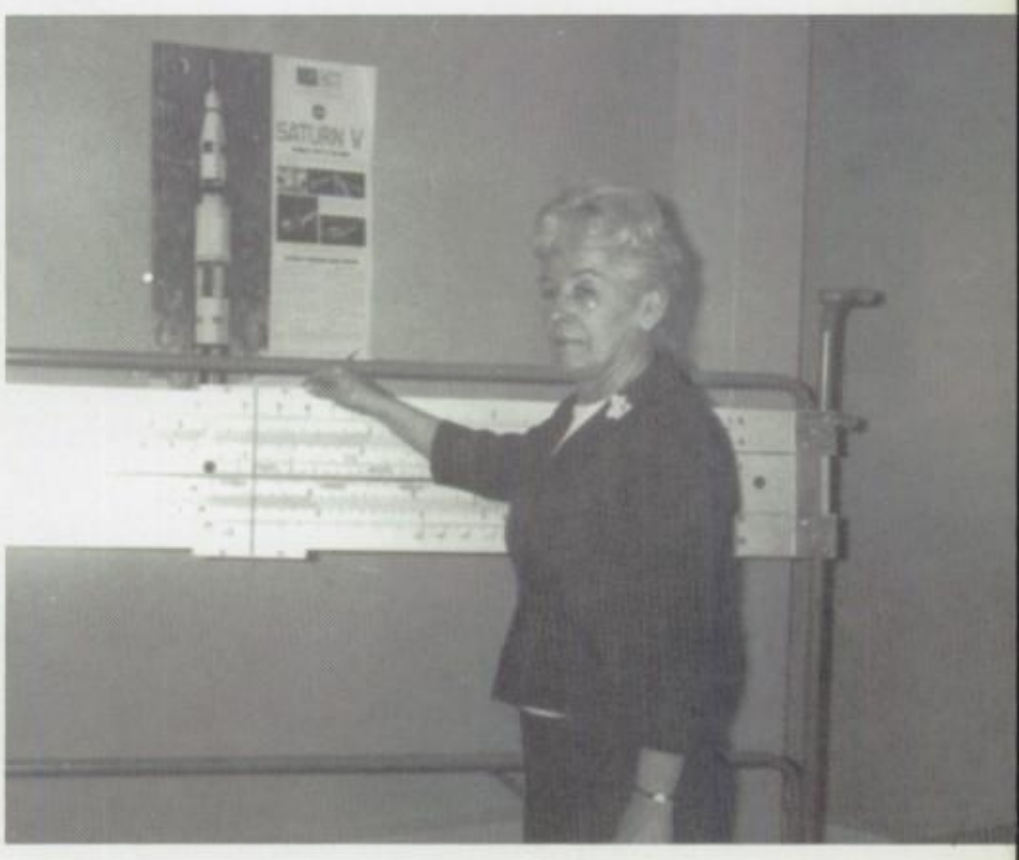
Mr. John Merritt verses his speech students with the art of acting.

Many students seek advice from junior high social studies instructor, Mr. James Leonard.

Miss Joann Rotelli, American history teacher prepares students for the future with facts of the past.

Mrs. Alma Bays, instructs junior high students on the fundamentals of modern math.

Math teacher, Mrs. Eileen Hooker, readies her math students for high school.



Mrs. Margaret Swanson demonstrates the versatility of the slide rule to her math classes.

Faculty Members Follow Diversified Paths

Miss Jenny Sue Booth instructs Tami Jordan in sewing. Miss Booth teaches home ec and business.

Sponsor of FHA and a home ec teacher, Miss Ruth Sproat, demonstrates baking procedures.

Mr. Steve Nyikos operates the art department.

Various tasks keep Mrs. Pat Ferguson busy, not the least of which are physical education, health and English.

Mrs. Lois Riggs, health, physical education and home economics teacher,

Mr. Weldon Hicks surveys some products from his graphic arts class.

Mr. John Mathews is a power mechanics instructor.

Varsity football Coach Mr. Harry Moore "doubles" as junior high science teacher.

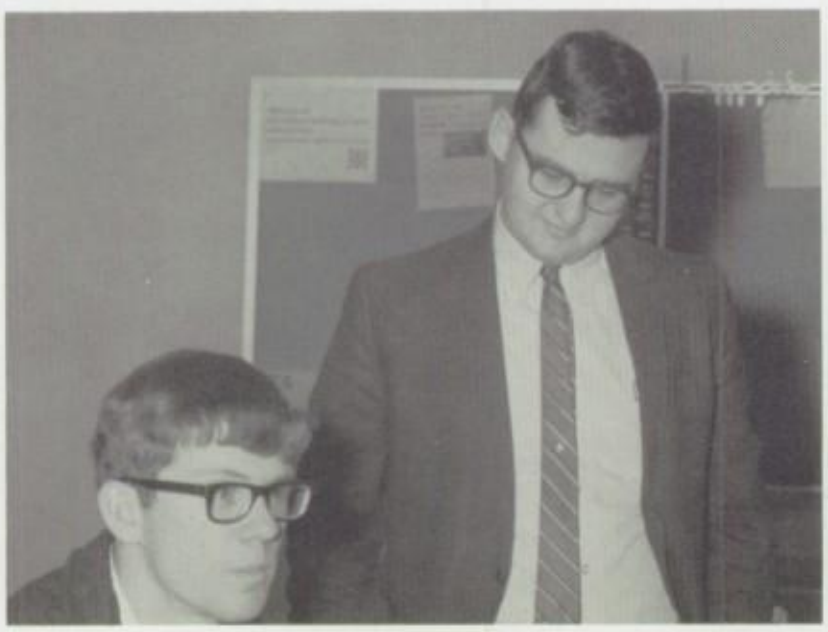
Mr. Ken Kamke, Science Club sponsor, instructs chemistry students.

Mr. Richard Lieber conducts Royals band.

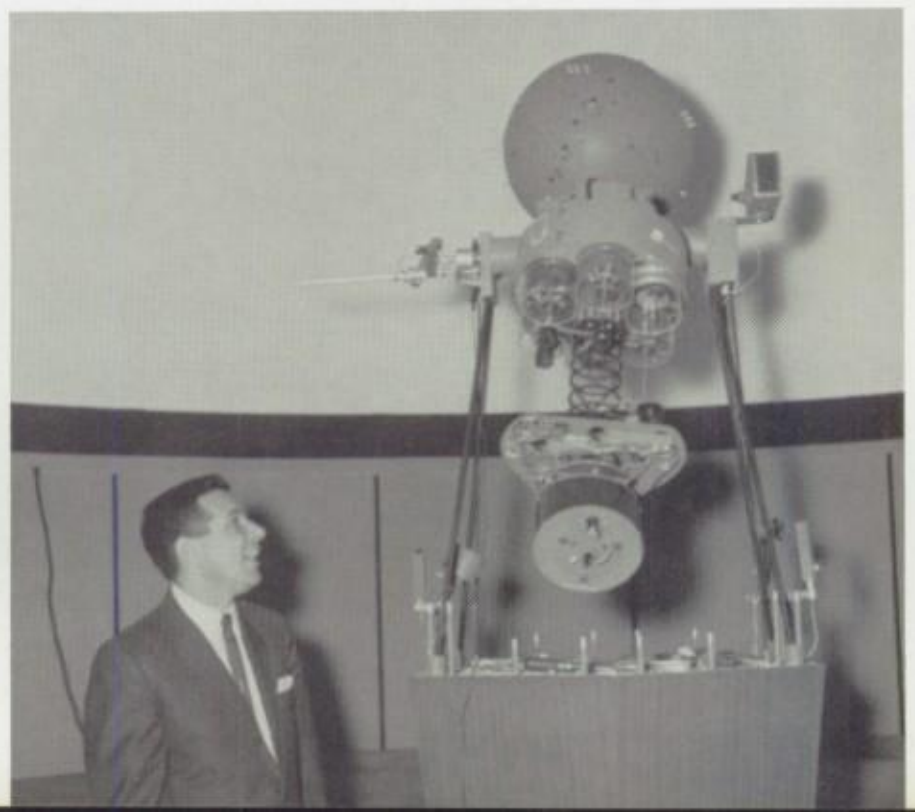
Science teacher, Mr. Max Chance, coaches junior high athletics.

chats with Mrs. Cathy Lindholm, vocal music instructor.

Mr. Jeff VanArsdol is the agriculture teacher.



Operating the planetarium is one of the specialties of basketball and track coach and science teacher, Mr. Wayne Long.

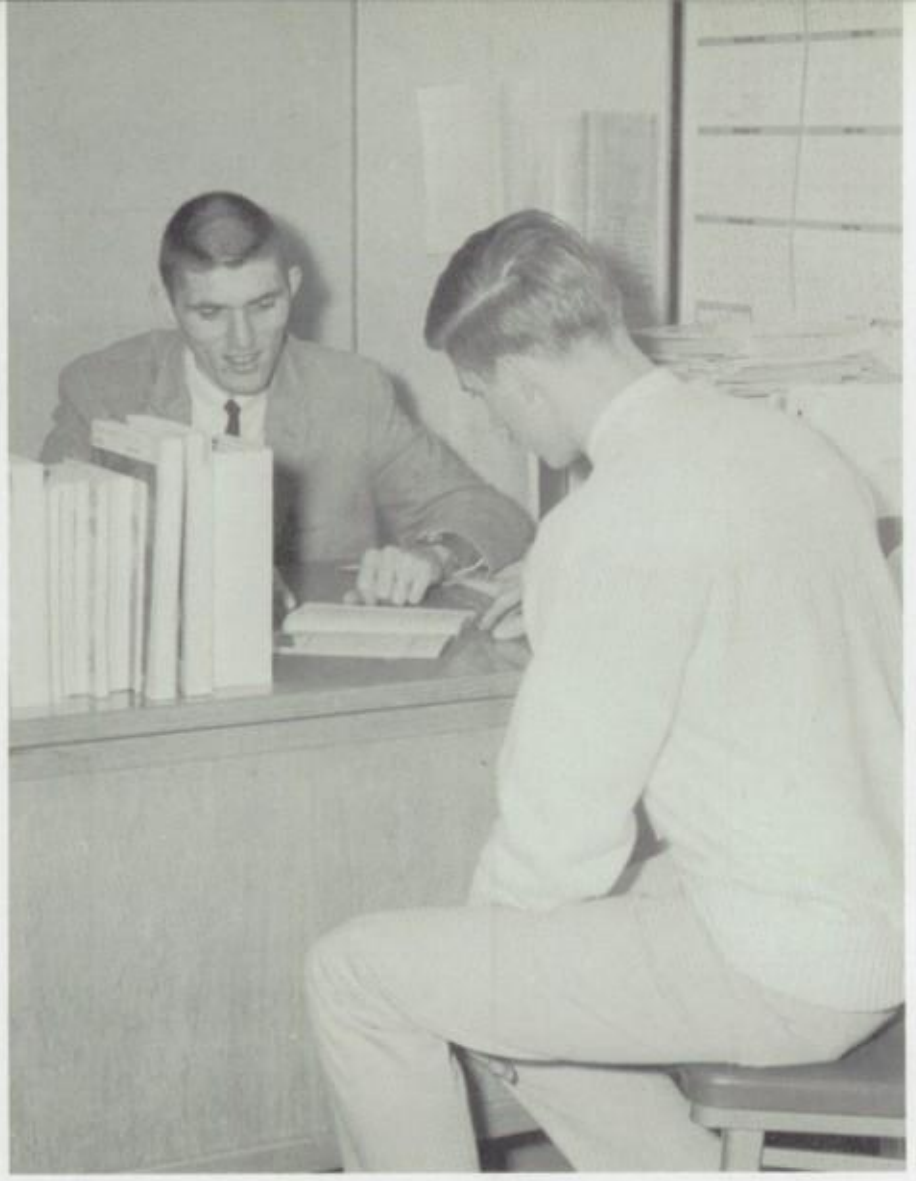


Administration Launch Students' Education

The director of our production, Mr. Ben Sprinkle, guides faculty as well as students at Southeastern through the highways and byways of "everyday school life."

Frequently seen signing absence slips or administering discipline is assistant principal Louis Trosky.

All outer office matters are heard by secretaries June West and Barbara Clark.



Mr. Gary Butcher, guidance counselor, helps students select classes for knowledge and enjoyment. Mr. Butcher also helps college-bound students decide which college to attend.

As important as is the control system of Project Apollo which will soon land a man on the moon, so is the control system of our school. The office launches, guides, and tracks the missiles of each student's education during and beyond the time of enrollment in this school. Two hardworking secretaries serve the school in keeping all of the records and completing all of the paper work that accompanies such an enterprise as our school. Assistance in scheduling and planning for college is provided for students by two counselors. Our principals keep the educational machine running smoothly. With such an able and willing office staff, we truly can cause good things to happen at Southeastern.

Students such as Sue Rees and Elizabeth Roesener sell school supplies which are necessary for the students various classes.

SUPERINTENDENT OF SOUTHEASTERN SCHOOLS, Dr. Leo Marshall, supervises the elementary and high school and coordinates school board, administration, and school personnel efforts. His secretary, Miss Dorothy Kepner, lends her efficiency and warm personality to the teachers and all others who have contact with Dr. Marshall.

Who formulates school policy, keeps tabs on finances, and approves all school programs? The school board, of course.

The administrative branch of our corporation, headed by Mr. Lester Brown is an efficient working body. Its principal duty is to provide the newest and most modern teaching techniques and training courses. The administration is continually striving to improve the educational system.

The school board members, James Ecoff, Lisco Leonard Jr., Lester Brown, Harry Sigler, Max Lednum, Ralph Erney and not pictured Steve Sturdevant discussing matters concerning the welfare of the school system.

For the graduating class of 1968, "Here's What's Happened!" A big new school has been the setting for the new happenings of the big year for this class. Every expectation of joy and aspiration of hope for greater things to come has been wrapped up in this culminating year of the greater part of formal education. In a solemn and serenely beautiful way, the members of this class leave behind the fond memories of friends, fun, and facts of dive into the world's wishing well, seeking their fortune for the future.

Dedication

This year's Sceptre has been designed with YOU in mind. It wasn't constructed to satisfy a panel of judges somewhere else in the United States or the world; but hopefully it is a report of "What's Happening" during the 1967-68 school year. We tried many new ideas and a few experiments, we hope successfully. We won't know how successful it has been for several years, because that's when you will put it to a test. If it brings a lump to your throat then or reminds you of the many happy experiences (or unhappy, as the case may be), then it can be judged a success.

As editor of the book, I would like to express my sincere gratitude to several persons. First of all, I would like to thank Mr. Fred Plocher of American Yearbook Company, without whose help and advice the book would never have been possible. Also, I want to thank Mr. Paul Brady and Porter Studio for their excellent cooperation and fine photography. Several students, too many to name, were a big help, and I want to thank them for selling ads and subscriptions, helping with the layout and content of the book, and their general support throughout the entire procedure. The faculty and administration have been most co-operative, and thanks are extended to them, especially to our advisor, Mr. Keith Wellman, who proved to be a "Dad" to us all.

It has been a privilege and a pleasure to edit this book, and I know there will be no end to the satisfaction I will receive in the years to come as I leaf through its pages. It's been a wonderful experience and one which I will cherish for the rest of my life.

Thanks to everyone!

Kay
Yo one
I miss you
Friends, I hope you always
Stay that way. I love ya
Oh! By the way I set us up a sweet girl date for Longer our lover
Good luck Sue
in the future!
